

How To For Employers: FindYourJob.ca

A new job board has been introduced to the Waterloo, Wellington and Dufferin areas. Findyourjob.ca pulls on-line job postings from job boards and brings them together in this one website so that local job candidates can see them all in one place. If you post your job to any of the job boards on this list, then findyourjob.ca will find them and post them to their site as well with no extra work on your part.

To make sure, your job postings show up here, be sure to include a city name in any place on any job board web site where you are asked for it as this is how findyourjob.ca will find your posting. If it is for multiple locations in our area, you may want to pick one and then add the other cities/locations in your posting. If it is for multiple positions, then you may want to add more than one position in your posting title as well - Instead of "Company A is hiring!" perhaps "We are hiring people for Position A and B!" or "Positions A and B wanted for Company A/in City Y!" It is a better marketing piece to job seekers and for the web site to find your postings.

If you are looking for some support around re-opening and COVID-19 or where to send employees for information, there is a section on the website with Resources for Jobseekers with Links to Public Health resources.

This site will get your postings in more places and is being marketed to job seekers and through business associations.
